Details of the event:

For college teachers, Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) play a significant role in recognizing and protecting their scholarly and creative contributions. During the last few years, a significant number of young faculty members joined the college and it is important for them to get informed about IPR. In his lecture, Dr. Malik highlighted the different types of intellectual properties, the laws involved therein, scope of copyright and related rights. He also discussed about the performers' rights and patents.
